Personal Arrangements

Invitation For Established Suitors

Time and romantic energy are finite resources, and I prefer to invest them in a select few established suitors I thoroughly enjoy. Arrangements create space for me to prioritize our connection, and the structure for it to feel emotionally and financially supported to get closer.

The below information is meant as an informational guide to help envision the structure and financial investment. To know what it could look like for us, let's chat about what we're excited by and shape something that feels natural to us.

Each arrangement roughly combines:

- Less practical logistics, more personal room for connection. The financial piece becomes background provision, handled in advance.
- The pleasure and ease of being known, remembered, and understood. Our own rituals developed over time, and something ongoing to look forward to. It should get sweeter with time.
- Building on a connection we already enjoy, with the option of connecting on my personal phone between dates.
- An agreed amount of in-person time together, typically weekly, bi-weekly, or monthly. Can be local or long distance where I fly to you.
- Specific times or dates reserved for us on my calendar, through standing dates or agreed scheduling priority.

Shaping Our Arrangement

Your monthly investment roughly combines four variables that influence each other: the amount of in-person time we choose, term length, continuity retainer, and any additional exclusivity. I can provide a few options and exact amounts once we chat about our rough preferences.

6 hour date	$8,000

16 hour sleepover (breakfast)	$15,000

Terms, Funded In Advance

Available terms

1 to 12 months

Generally, terms of 4 months or greater may lower the monthly investment by providing more stability.

Likewise, 1-3 month terms may require a higher investment if there are significant considerations to the arrangement.

Dates are typically weekly or monthly. They can also be bi-weekly or every other month. Arrangements can be local or long-distance, where I fly to you.

Part 3: Continuity Retainer: Connection Between Dates

We may prefer more regular dates with little or no connection in between or fewer dates with a closer connection throughout the month. I suggest starting small and seeing if we want more.

CONTACT	OUR RHYTHM	EXAMPLES OF HOW WE MIGHT STAY CONNECTED
None	No real connection between dates.	My personal number is used for date scheduling and planning purposes.
Light	Light connection: ~2 hours a week. Text only.	Two thoughtful text catch-ups weekly, with roughly 6-8 exchanges each. Text only.
Regular	Regular connection: ~5 hours a week. Agreed combination of texting, phone or video calls, and pictures	~10-20 thoughtful text exchanges across three days, one 45-minute call, and one personal photo.
Frequent	Frequent connection: ~10 hours a week. Agreed combination of texting, phone or video calls, and pictures	Two 30-minute calls. 2 personal photos, ~5-7 hours texting or around 4–8 thoughtful text exchanges daily across 5 days.

Calls are scheduled or held at recurring times. We agree on a rhythm for texting that we enjoy and that fits our lives.

Part 4: Optional Premiums

Semi-exclusive or full exclusivity:

Primary Suitor — Expensive

Personal Mistress — Very Expensive

During our arrangement, all other dates and paid advertising will be paused. Details to be discussed privately and agreed to.

Frequently Asked Questions

What does my investment include?

Your monthly investment covers our agreed in-person time, continuity retainer, and any agreed premium exclusivity. Additional time, scope, and travel expenses are discussed and arranged or added separately.

What if I'm busy or want less contact one week/month?

A quieter week or month is fine. Unused continuity retainers don't automatically roll forward or reduce the investment.

Can we reschedule a date?

Yes. Typically there will be more flexibility than with individually contracted dates. Please give as much notice as possible. We should aim to reschedule within the same monthly period. Any carryover into the following month requires agreement; time isn't automatically carried forward for later months.

Can I pause or adjust the arrangement?

We can discuss changes to our in-person time, continuity retainer, or term length. Pauses and adjustments require mutual agreement in advance. Travel or a quieter period don't automatically pause the arrangement unless mutually agreed in advance. Changes to term, reserved availability, or exclusivity are mutually confirmed before taking effect.

What happens if you need to cancel or become unavailable?

In the rare case where I cancel a date, we'll arrange replacement time by agreement. If I cannot fulfil an agreed commitment and we cannot agree on a suitable replacement, the undelivered portion will be refunded or carried forward, whichever you prefer.

What if either of us wants to end the arrangement early?

Either of us may end the personal connection at any point. The agreed term carries a financial commitment, and early termination doesn't automatically mean a full refund. Notice requirements and the treatment of remaining prepaid terms are set out in our individual agreement before payment.

What happens when our term ends?

We can discuss renewing or reshaping the arrangement. Renewal requires mutual agreement and confirmation of availability; it isn't automatic.

How private is our connection?

I'm happy to sign an NDA and will always respect your privacy. Our communication is kept private. We can also agree to use end-to-end encrypted messaging apps and timed disappearing messages for added privacy.
