Fridge Cheat Sheet — Giddy About Bots

Tape this on the fridge.

The crew words (Chapter 7)

KEEP	EDIT	HOLD	CUT	YES
use it.	change it (say how).	park it.	toss it (trash, never forever).	on the approval card only. Silence isn't a yes. A thumbs-up isn't a yes.

Silence isn't a yes.

Word List: Plain Words for Bot Words

- Agent. Another word for a bot. When the app says "New agent," it means a new bot or a fresh start.
- App. A program on your phone or computer that does the same thing for everybody, like Gmail. Grok Bot is the app you use to reach your bots.
- Approval card. The little box in your chat where the bot asks your yes before something important happens. The only official yes.
- Bot. AI that knows, with a second job of doing. A chat answers. A bot acts.
- Chat. The conversation between you and your bot. The kitchen table.
- Cloud. Somebody else's computer, in a big locked-up building, that you reach over the internet. Your bot's desk lives there.
- Connector. A permission slip (the tunnel) that lets your bot use one of your other accounts, like email or a calendar. Also called a plugin.
- Crew Knowledge. Your bots' shared rule book and memory, kept outside the chat in your home.
- Dashboard. A Page that keeps itself fresh, like a scoreboard.
- Get Organized. The free starter system you feed your bot so it knows the house rules. Grab it at giddyaboutbots.com.
- Hallucinating. A fancy word for when a bot makes something up that sounds right but isn't. Ask where it got it.
- KEEP, EDIT, HOLD, CUT. Use it, change it, park it, toss it (trash, never forever).
- Lane. One bot's job. One owner per lane.
- Lead bot. The bot you talk to most, who coordinates the rest of the crew for you.
- Library. The bookshelf where your saved Pages, files, and links live.
- Marketplace. The public shelf of ready-made bots (templates) you can copy into your app.
- Memory. What your bot remembers about you and how you like things. Ask, "What do you remember about me?"
- Page. A nice-looking, finished thing your bot made for you to read, like a printout on the fridge.
- Pin. Putting something at the top of your Library shelf so it's one tap away.
- Prompt. A fancy word for a request. It's just what you ask for.
- Read-only. The bot can look but can't touch. A window, not a door.
- Rebuild pack. Your bot's backup: its map, rules, skills, and connections list (no secrets), saved outside the bot.
- Routine. A job your bot does on its own, on a schedule. Just ask for one.
- Settings. The gear. Where your plan, computers, vault, and help live.
- Skill. A recipe card that tells your bot how to do one job your way.
- Support. The helpdesk, behind Settings. Fast, kind, no dumb questions.
- Template. A recipe copy of a bot that someone can add to their own app. Their recipe, your kitchen.
- Usage. Your gas gauge. Your plan is the size of the tank, and it refills every week.
- Vault. The little safe for passwords and cards. Never in a doc, never in the chat.
- Yes. Only on the approval card. Silence isn't a yes. A thumbs-up isn't a yes.

Hit a word that isn't here? Ask your bot: "What does that mean, in plain words?"